About Blind Love Letters

Blind Love Letters is a participant-centric organization determined to help people find love through genuine human connection and understanding. We want to challenge the modern day swipe culture through sharing our stories and personalities instead of our profile pictures and filters. Our 3-month program matches each client to three other matches, and at the end of each month, clients drop one match. Throughout the process, communication between clients will be purposefully limited and appearances will be hidden. After writing back and forth for three months, the two individuals still matched together will reveal their identities and be able to see each other. Our goal is to have clients meet someone who will appreciate them for their stories and experiences over their appearance.

We're looking for a Web Design Intern who is experienced in designing websites. Someone who has an eye for design and is able to organize information in an eye-pleasing way. Coding knowledge is not required, but preferred. Candidates must have experience working in Figma. We're a small, independent organization with a mission to build meaningful experiences that change people's lives.

What will you do?

You will have the opportunity to work with a variety of people from diverse backgrounds. In this role, you will interact directly with other designers on the team to design and update the website accordingly as the program progresses. You will communicate most closely with the Design and Marketing teams, but will also have multiple opportunities to interact and collaborate with other teams. Thanks to our manageable size at Blind Love Letters, we value every team member and focus on transparent communication throughout the entire organization. Our culture is highly collaborative. Everyone is encouraged to ideate, genuinely listen, and innovate.

Responsibilities

- Redesign and update the Blind Love Letters website using best UI/UX practices
- Use the style guide to maintain brand consistency
- Suggest creative ideas for implementation
- Collaborate closely with the Design and Tech Development teams

Minimum qualifications

- Currently enrolled in or have graduated from a 4-year university
- Strong experience working on multi-member, complex projects
- Understanding of utilizing a branding/style guide
- Experience with using Figma (coding knowledge not required, but preferred)
- Agile mindset to adapt, reflect, and be resilient
- Outstanding communication skills to work between and within cross-functional teams

How to Apply

Please send your resume and the number of hours you can commit to the email blindloveletter@gmail.com with the subject "Application for Web Design Intern". We look forward to reviewing your applications!
